

<Marine Life Rearing Log>

9 AM, September 13, 2023

Weather: Sunny

Water temperature: 18.6°C

Today marks exactly one year since we brought the flounder to our rearing test facility. There have been no deaths due to parasites or disease, which we were initially concerned about, and the tritium ingestion/excretion tests, as well as the tests to confirm the effects of tritium, have been going well. These fish could fit in the palm of your hand when they first arrived, but now are the size of an A4 sheet of paper at the age of 1.5 years.

